Insolvency law has faced quite a shake-up in recent years and continues to do so as we get to grips with a whole new set of Insolvency Rules. This certificate course is primarily aimed at practitioners in other fields who come across insolvent situations in their practice and wish to develop their knowledge and experience.

It is tailored specifically for non-contentious lawyers. There is a complementary Certificate in Insolvency Litigation (see page 19) and the two courses will provide a complete overview of insolvency law and practice.

At the end of the course, delegates will be in a position to advise their clients on the law and practice in both corporate and personal insolvency as well as understanding how restructuring fits into the area.

- An introduction to the different insolvency regimes (personal and corporate)
- Administration law generally to include an up to date analysis of law and practice around pre-pack administrations
- Property law and insolvency
- Employment law and insolvency
- Piercing the corporate veil – getting at the directors personally
- Creditors' rights under the different insolvency regimes
- Getting the most out of the insolvency practitioner – his role and duties, and what happens if you are dissatisfied?
- Remuneration issues for lawyers and creditors

Certificate in Insolvency Litigation

6 B

Foundation

Stephen Allinson

This certificate course is primarily aimed at litigators who come across insolvent situations in practice and wish to develop their knowledge. It will also be a detailed introduction for lawyers wishing to develop an insolvency litigation practice. The course will equip you to advise your clients on the relevant law and practice, to maximise recoveries and understand the breadth of remedies available. It is tailored specifically for lawyers from a contentious background.

The course covers:

- Using insolvency as a debt recovery tool – the latest law and practice
- The Insolvency Practitioner's roles and duties and how they are enforced.
- Tips and tactics to maximise insolvency recoveries. Can asset tracing and injunctive remedies help? ss 236 and 366 Insolvency Act – powerful tools or damp squibs?
- Piercing the corporate veil – getting at the Directors personally. The latest law and practice on wrongful and fraudulent trading and misfeasance. Do some of the recent changes assist recovery opportunities?
- Director disqualification – a new tougher regime?
- Other post insolvency remedies including preferences, transactions at an undervalue, transactions to defraud creditors and illegal dividends. Much talked of, but how do they work in practice?
- Funding or assigning insolvency litigation; the changing landscape. What are the current opportunities?

The emphasis will be on practical application and will include an analysis of recent legislation and case law and how the landscape has changed through these developments.

HOT TOPICCertificate in Commercial Property Litigation

12 B

Foundation

Mark Shelton

This two day course is aimed at lawyers who are looking to build a practice in commercial property litigation, and gives a broad grounding in core practice areas, while taking a firmly practical approach.

The course begins with an in-depth review of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1954, which is fundamental to the management of commercial property, and from which much of the bread and butter work of the commercial property litigator flows. The 1954 Act is a highly technical piece of legislation, with many traps for the unwary.

It goes on to consider law and procedure where the landlord opposes lease renewal on each of the statutory grounds and will examine the other common areas in which disputes arise – dilapidations, service charges, enforcement of leasehold covenants following assignments, and break options.

The course will also support delegates in dealing with contentious applications for landlord's consent to dealings with the lease, practicalities of trespasser eviction, and the remedy of forfeiture of leases.

- The basic concepts of the 1954 Act: What is a 'business lease'? Who is the 'competent landlord'?
- Procedure, and renewal terms
- Tactics and requirements for opposing lease renewal
- Service charges – common causes of dispute, the code and s 20 consultation in mixed use developments
- Enforcement of leasehold covenants – the pre-1996 and post-1995 regimes
- Break options – drafting and serving notices, payment of rent and interest, conditional clauses
- The interpretation of repairing covenants, and the conduct and settlement of dilapidations claims
- Obtaining landlord's consents: formalities and pitfalls
- Trespassers – efficient conduct of court procedures, and adding value with practical measures for eviction and preventing recurrent occupations
- Avoiding inadvertent waiver of the right to forfeit, and a guide through the variety of relief jurisdictions

Intermediate

David Travers QC

This course is an introduction to disciplinary and regulatory proceedings aimed at lawyers from a contentious background which will also provide a useful refresher for those with more experience in the field. It examines the process from the investigation through a fair hearing to the final decision, providing an overview of this complex and growing area.

- The specialist tribunal – the rules of procedure and the standard and burden of proof
- The written allegation – in time giving adequate notice and in sufficient detail?
- Registration of professionals
- The appropriate standard and the scope of the professional duty
- Experts and their obligations as professionals
- Preparing for the hearing
- Advocacy before the tribunal – how to present the case
- The role of the legal assessor
- Sanctions
- Challenging the decision – judicial review and statutory review
- Other proceedings and double jeopardy
- Recent case law and developments

Professional Negligence Update

5 B

Update

Andrew McLoughlin

This course will focus on developments in professional liability, including both negligence and contractual liability, as reflected by appellate court case law over recent years.

You will gain an understanding of professional liability, the duty of care, the standard of care, causation, loss of chance, and limitation in a number of professions, with a particular emphasis on solicitors' and barristers' liability, but including some coverage of surveyors, accountants' and insurance brokers' claims.

A large number of the principal cases in this complex field shall be discussed. There will also be a practical session focusing on a recent case that raises many issues covered in the course.

Finally, delegates will receive an insight into the implication for professional liability practitioners of the Jackson reforms, Mitchell v News Group Newspapers [2013] EWCA Civ 1537 and subsequent cases.

Proceeds of Crime: The Criminal Finances Act 2017

5 B

Intermediate

Ivan Krolick

The Criminal Finances Act, which came into effect on 30 September 2017, makes sweeping changes in relation to recovery of the proceeds of crime, corruption and terrorism, and introduces new concepts relating to unexplained wealth, and a new corporate offence of failing to prevent facilitation of tax evasion. It will undoubtedly generate substantial litigation, especially relating to the larger valued proceeds of serious crime and assets of foreign politicians, their families and associates.

This course provides legal practitioners with an introduction to this complex statute, with an emphasis on the practicalities of coping with the new and revised concepts it introduces.

This course will include:

- Unexplained wealth orders and interim freezing orders
- Disclosure orders in support of money laundering investigations
- Money laundering SARs
- Extending the civil recovery and cash forfeiture provisions
- Terrorist property
- Failure by companies to prevent facilitation of tax evasion by staff

Litigation Drafting: A Comprehensive Guide

6 B

Foundation

Philip Barlow

The new SRA Competence Framework makes it clear that solicitors must be able to draft documents which are legally effective and accurately reflect the client's instructions and also undertake "effective written advocacy". This workshop, aimed at paralegals, trainee and junior solicitors will help you develop the key competence in drafting statements of case, requests for information and witness statements. You'll grow in confidence and look forward to demonstrating your skills.

Topics covered include:

- Endorsing the claim form – avoid the pitfalls of Nomura
- Statements of case – contract/tort/breach of statutory duty
- Identifying the cause of action and avoiding abuse of process
- Defences and tactical drafting
- Part 20 claims
- Requests for further information – are they an own goal?
- Admissions: recent changes on when to use them
- Amendments: do's and don'ts
- Drafting witness statements – tips and traps
- Skeleton arguments demystified

Interviewing Witnesses: How to Unlock Their Memories

6 C D

Intermediate

Dave Barney

The SRA Competence Statement makes it clear that solicitors must be capable of “obtaining relevant information through effective use of questioning and active listening”. This is sometimes easier said than done when the events in question took place several years before.

This course teaches you how to use techniques based on cognitive interviewing that really work in getting information out of witnesses.

It uses a series of memory retrieval techniques to increase the amount of information that can be obtained from a witness or client.

Cognitive interviewing is successfully used in some of the largest UK law firms and will increase the completeness and accuracy of what your witnesses can remember, helping them to remember clearly things that happened many months, or even many years ago. It will also enable you to:

- Assess litigation risks and make decisions about a case
- Prepare cases and take statements based on the full facts
- Obtain up to 40% more relevant information
- Obtain uncontaminated evidence from witnesses
- Obtain more facts and details from witnesses first time, reducing the need for costly re-interviews

Sheriff Payne

Accredited by APIL Training

The circumstances of nearly 8% of all deaths are considered in detail at inquests held by Coroners. Such hearings are often the only opportunity for the family and the public to find out what happened and provide a challenge to those representing them or clients whose conduct may be called into question.

A representative at an inquest will be able to assist the client, assess the weight of the evidence, identify the strengths and weaknesses of the case for or against the client in allied proceedings and advise them accordingly.

The law, practice and procedure relating to inquests is unique. This practical and comprehensive course is an essential guide for all practitioners.

By attending this course you will learn:

- The role, duties and powers of the Coroner
- Coronial law in outline
- Who are interested persons
- The rules of evidence and disclosure
- Procedure at the inquest hearing
- Types of conclusions or verdicts
- Conclusions incorporating neglect
- Inquests and conclusions that comply with Human Rights legislation
